

ETF-List

The following ETFs are currently available for your own investment solution. All ETFs are physically replicated and therefore effectively invest in the assets of the underlying benchmark index. In addition, all ETFs are traded on the Swiss Exchange (SIX). In the pre-selection process, findependent also takes into account the size of the ETF, the product fees (TER), the trading spread and the tracking error.

Are you missing an ETF? Then write to us at service@findependent.ch. We are constantly reviewing the selection of ETFs and will add more ETFs in the future.

Sustainable ETFs

There are different approaches to sustainability when investing. When putting together your own investment solution, you can therefore also choose from various sustainable ETFs. On the one hand, there are those that are screened according to such as SRI ETFs or ESG Screened ETFs. On the other hand, there are ETFs where you can invest in a specific "green" theme.

by findependent

We believe that ESG screening should always be taken into account in addition to the ESG rating. This is because in markets where sustainability standards are generally not very advanced, ETFs that reflect them may not achieve a high rating despite the screening.

Therefore, we mark every ETF that is ESG-screened with one  and in addition we assign one  respectively two  for an ESG rating of "AA" or "AAA".

ESG rating

Measuring the sustainability of investments is difficult. MSCI's ESG rating offers a point of reference. MSCI analyses to what extent the companies of an ETF, for example, are exposed to the specific ESG risks of their industry and how they manage these risks – compared to other companies in their industry. In this way, they receive a rating from "CCC" (laggard) to "AAA" (leader).
